

As a customer of a small ISP not affiliated with a phone or cable company I am EXTREMELY concerned about any regulatory changes that could threaten the ability of independent ISPs to offer excellent service that is customized to my needs.

I feel that changes to the current regulations would be anti-competitive. I am filing this comment on my own behalf, but I suspect that I speak for many countless others who enjoy the benefits of small ISP who don't have the time to comment, or don't realize the implications of the pending decision.

thanks for your consideration,
Eric Bergman, Ph.D.